

DESCRIPTION

A lively port with subtle scents of fruit where aromas of figs and plums predominate. This port also has notes of wood and herbs. The taste is slightly jam-like and therefore full and rich.

VINIFICATION

Immediately after harvest, the new Porto, which displays a sharp colour and a strong fruity flavour, is selected and put to age in large wooden vats. The aging process is slow, allowing to obtain a complex with trace port fresh fruit. It should be consumed after bottling, since its quality does not improve in the bottle.
